AMERICAN- and ENGLISH-GROWN SPRING-FLOWERING BULBS

Holland has been, in previous years, the main source of supply of spring-flowering bulbs for American gardens. Since this supply has been cut off, we have made strenuous efforts to replace it with American-grown stock.

The growing of Tulips, etc., here has not yet developed sufficiently to equal the demand, therefore we import from England bulbs in additional quantities and varieties to fulfill your requirements. The offerings in this Catalog attest to the successful results of our efforts.

The bulbs of some varieties may not be as large and plump as Holland used to supply, but what really counts with you, the buyer, is the quality of the merchandise offered. No one realizes this more than we do, so we are always chiefly concerned with the one purpose of supplying our customers with the best that can be produced.

BULBS FOR INDOOR WINTER FLOWERING

Not only in springtime do bulbs display their loveliness, but they also produce their beautiful blooms in the house during the winter months. The bulbs offered on this page are easily grown for winter blooming in the greenhouse, the conservatory, or in any room where temperature and moisture can be controlled to suit the plants. Extensive and simple directions for the indoor growing of each item will be enclosed with every order.

HYACINTHS

The noble beauty of the large, compact, and fragrant Hyacinth flowers is well known. We offer fine quality bulbs specially for indoor flowering. Plant bulbs singly in pots or three bulbs in a pan. Grow some in Hyacinth Glasses; it's fascinating to watch the development of roots and flower spikes.

We offer the following colors:

IRIS reticulata (Sweet-Scented Iris)

This miniature Iris produces velvety flowers of a deep purple color with a vivid golden spot. They grow to a height of 6 to 8 inches. They may be forced into bloom in the house with the greatest ease and can be had in bloom about Christmastime.

Plant 6 bulbs in a 4 or 5-inch pot. You will enjoy the results more than we can tell you.

3 for 60c 12 for $2.25

AMARYLLIS

One of the most expensive, but also the most beautiful, of indoor plants. Bulbs throw vigorous stems with several giant blooms of lily-like form. The colors in the mixture range from the richest self-colors to pink, red and scarlet markings on pure white grounds.

Each 50c 3 for $1.35 12 for $5.00

ORNITHOGALUM arabicum

An excellent pot-plant. Tall spikes carry large umbels of pure white florets, each set off by a gleaming black pistil, which makes a striking feature. The fragrant flowers are remarkably long-lasting. Can also successfully be grown on hyacinth glasses filled with water. Place bulbs on glasses in November-December. Unlike hyacinth bulbs which have to remain in a dark place for several weeks, these bulbs can be placed in daylight from the start.

FOR NATURALIZING

Is there a sight more welcome than the nodding Daffodils or Narcissus under trees or a shrubby planting, brightening the April landscape? Millions of them are distributed each season, and in the early days of spring there is hardly a garden large or small where their vivid colors are not displayed. They are planted in small groups in front of shrubs, in rockeries, or in masses in woods, fields, lawns; in fact, anywhere, where they can be left alone to increase from year to year.

TRUMPET DAFFODIL MIXTURE. A choice assortment of yellow Trumpet Daffodils recommended for planting in beds, borders, or as edgings where they will become naturalized. They will increase rapidly every year to give a fine display with practically no attention or care . . . 25 for $1.15

Stassen DARWIN TULIPS

The most useful Tulips for garden decoration and cutting are found in the Darwin class. Their typical features are the tall, upright stems and the large, cup-shaped flowers, whilst their flowering period comes at the happiest time of the year, when Nature is painting the earth with her loveliest colors. Fill beds with these Tulips; plant them in borders, in front of evergreens, or along the edge of shrubbery and you will be assured of a colorful spring garden during May, extending into June in the northerly districts. Darwin Tulips give cut-flowers of extraordinary quality, which last a long time in water.

INEXPENSIVE RAINBOW MIXTURE of DARWIN TULIPS

A mixture, so long as it is good, has many advantages for the enthusiastic flower lover. It is, as it were, a surprise for you do not know what colored flower the bulb will produce. What a lovely picture you will have when your beds of Darwin Tulips in their motley color variations smile up at you. This well-proportioned mixture excels in color beauty of light, dark, and intervening shades, not too many bright colors or too many pale ones, but harmonizing, bright, striking and fine. Besides the almost perfect beauty this mixture displays in the garden, it gives a wealth of long-stemmed flowers for cutting, exceedingly suitable for graceful bouquets in your rooms.

DUTCH IRIS

Of all the spring-flowering Iris, this is the finest and most satisfactory race. They produce large flowers on strong stems, which not only make them preferable as cut-flowers but also effective in the flower garden, in beds, groups and edgings. For best effect plant them closely together. They come to bloom in June and after the May-flowering Tulips are through blooming. Dutch Iris may be left in the ground for years in succession, if planted in a sunny location.

THE HERALDS OF SPRING

The finding in bloom of the "First Flowers of Spring" is a great event and one of the genuine delights of life. No garden, however small, should be without the showy Chionodoxas, charming Scillas, lovely Snowdrops, and dainty Grape Hyacinths. Do not miss this opportunity of delight—plant as many bulbs as space permits. They take very little room and, once planted, they reappear and bloom each spring.

CHIONODOXA (Glory-of-the-Snow)

The most cheerful of the early spring flowers. Produces bunches of star-shaped flowers on a stem 5 inches tall. A mass planting of these sky-blue flowers with white hearts forms a real beauty-spot. Can remain undisturbed for years to increase. Bloom in April.

GRAPE HYACINTHS (Muscari)

The Grape Hyacinth is a favorite among our early spring-flowering bulbs. Who is not familiar with these delicate spires of blue that loom up like so many fairy sceptres? You can make the most beautiful edgings and groups with them; they look charming in the rock-garden and so pretty beneath trees and shrubs. Muscari require very little attention and flower abundantly for a long period; they can be left for years undisturbed to return each spring with more and larger flowers.

SCILLA campanulata (Wood Hyacinth)

Erect spikes, 12 inches tall, of open, campanulate flowers in May. Valuable for wild gardens and woodlands, where they should be largely naturalized, and also very effective in the rock-garden. A bulbous plant which is very easily grown and which will flower satisfactorily under all circumstances.

SNOWDROPS (Galanthus nivalis)

Their lovely, white, nodding blooms are out before the frost is out of the ground. For nice effect they must be planted thickly under trees and shrubs and in rockeries. Planted in groups, Snowdrops will soon make intimate colonies. Once planted they remain for years.

WINTER ACONITES (Eranthis)

Before Nature herself is fully awake, these Winter Aconites are already in bloom. Buttercup-like flowers arise above a dark green rosette of foliage 3 inches above the ground. Especially recommended for group plantings and in the rockeries.

CALOCHORTUS or BUTTERFLY TULIPS

Until one has seen a good collection of these bulbs, he has no idea how much Nature can do in the variation of one flower. The wonderfully marked eyes and dots and pencilings in rich colors of each flower are much like those on a butterfly's wings. They grow from 1 to 2 feet high and have from one to many flowers on a stem. In the mixture we supply, scarcely two are alike; they are simply marvelous in their variety of colors and markings. We promise the flower lover a new experience as he enjoys these strange flowers in May and June.

BRODIAEAS

Little bulbs, native to the Pacific Coast, produce tufts of grass-like foliage and slender but strong stems which carry clusters of wax-like flowers of great lasting quality. They naturalize easily in almost any situation, but are especially happy in rough, gritty soils or in the rock-garden. Bloom in May and June.

Mixed Colors. 12 for 70c 25 for $1.25 100 for $4.75

CAMASSIA esculenta

Perfectly hardy bulbous plants. Very showy in mass planting. Form flower-spikes 2 feet high, bearing a cluster of star-shaped flowers of a very fine rich purple. There are very few bulbous plants that meet climatic or soil conditions as well as Camassias. They naturalize exceedingly well and can be left alone for years. Bloom in early June.

ERYTHRONIUM (Dog's-Tooth Violet)

The charm of these enchanting woodland plants is so well shown in the above illustration that words seem futile. Had they no other beauty than that of the richly mottled leaves, they would be well worth a place in the garden. They thrive in wooded places, under shrubs, and in shaded corners of the rockery, where they readily naturalize. They are hardy in the coldest parts of the United States. Bloom in April and grow 5 to 10 inches tall.

ORNITHOGALUM (Star of Bethlehem)

Unlike other flowers the Ornithogalums open their blooms only from about 11 o'clock in the morning to 3 o'clock in the afternoon; for the remainder of the day they are closed. The abundant, star-shaped, silvery white flowers, in umbels, appear as if they wish to repay for the time they are closed. It propagates readily and adapts itself splendidly to naturalizing. Bloom in May and grow 6 to 8 inches tall.

TENUIFOLIUM

LILIUM CANDIDUM (Madonna Lily)

A tall June-flowering Lily, on the stems of which the pure white chalice flauts their beauty and also diffuse a delicate and delightful scent. They look noble and proud along drives, in front of shrubs or in borders and are exceedingly picturesque when interplanted with blue delphinium. There is nothing else so white, so sweet, so pure as the Madonna Lily. Differing from other Lilies, it is best to plant them in early fall.
